III. Election to vacancies, etc.—(1) The Governors having found it necessary to reduce the number of foundationers for financial reasons, there was no election during the year.

(2) Of the 16 girls withdrawn during the year, 12 had attained the age of 17 years, the limit ordinarily allowed under the rules, and 4 were withdrawn, for various reasons, before they had attained that age.

(3) Of the girls who had been withdrawn during the preceding year, and in respect of whom reports have been received during the year under review, one is undergoing training as a Kindergarten teacher, one is being trained for the profession of teaching, and one has joined the Lady Hardinge College for medical students at Delhi. One, after passing the Senior Cambridge Local Examination, studied and passed the Higher Locals in Music and Mathematics, which subjects she now teaches in the school in which she was educated. She intends, however, to go to the Dow Hill Training College at Kurseong during the current year for training. Another has temporarily taken up an appointment as a resident teacher in a school in Calcutta, pending her admission to the Dow Hill Training College, while another is teaching in a private school. Three have found employment as typists in mercantile firms, three are learning shorthand and type-writing, and one is undergoing a course of study in commercial subjects. Two are employed as operators in the Bengal Telephone Exchange, and one assists her brother-in-law in his business as a chemist.

(2) Eight girls were sent up for the Cambridge Local Examinations held in December 1916, of whom 3 passed, viz., 1 the Senior and 2 the Junior. Six were presented for the Elementary School Certificate Examination of whom 5 passed. Several also appeared at the Cambridge Local Examinations held in December last, but the results are not yet known.

V. Inspection.—The Rev. G. S. Henderson was appointed Visiting-Governor for the first half, and reappointed for the second half, of the year. He visited all the schools in Calcutta where there were Bruce wards in residence, and paid several visits to schools having the largest number of wards. He also saw them receiving instruction in their classes and inspected their quarters. He found the wards happy and well cared for. He had special interviews with the older wards with regard to their future. Some were aiming to be lady-doctors, others, teachers or shorthand typists, or operators in the Telephone Company.

VI. Meetings.—Three meetings were held during the year, but there were no resolutions of general importance calling for special mention except those approving (1) the grant of a second outfit allowance on the transfer of a ward from an elementary to a secondary school, and (2) the inclusion of the Loreto Convent, Asansol, as a school to which Bruce wards may be sent at elementary school rates.

FIELD OPERATIONS.

From—The Chief of the General Staff,
To—The Secretary to the Government of India, Army Department.

I am directed by His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief to forward for the information of the Government of India, a despatch by Lieutenant-General Sir A. A. Barrett, K.C.B., K.C.S.I., K.C.V.O., Commanding, Northern Army, on the operations against the Mahsuds, March to August 1917.

2. His Excellency desires to bring to notice the admirable service rendered by—

(b) Major-General Sir W. G. L. Beynon, K.C.I.E., C.B., D.S.O., who commanded the South Waziristan Field Force.

3. His Excellency also wishes to acknowledge the great assistance afforded to the Government of India by the three regiments of the Nepalese contingent who took part in these operations.

General Sir Baber Shumshere Jang, Bahadur Rana, K.C.I.E., in his capacity as representative of the Nepalese Army and liaison officer afforded Sir William Beynon all possible help, advice and support.

No. W.-4171, dated Murree, the 20th September 1917.

From—LIEUTENANT-GENERAL SIR A. A. BARRETT, K.C.B., K.C.S.I., K.C.V.O., Commanding, Northern Army,
To—The Chief of the General Staff, Army Headquarters, Simla.

I have the honour to furnish, for the information of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, the following report on the operations undertaken against the Mahsuds during the period March to August 1917.

2. On 26th February, news was received at Wana that a large Mahsud lashkar was moving against Sarwakai, one of the posts garrisoned by the South Waziristan Militia. The Commandant of the Corps at once strengthened the garrison, which, by operating outside the post on 2nd March successfully kept the Mahsuds at bay. On the following day, however, after inflicting considerable losses on the enemy, it had to withdraw into the post, having suffered many casualties, including the loss of its British officer, killed.

On learning of this attack, Brigadier-General G. M. Baldwin, D.S.O., Commanding the Derajat Brigade, ordered the concentration of the Derajat Movable Column at Murtaza.

3. On 4th March, I received orders from the Chief of the General Staff to assume control of the operations necessary to deal with the Mahsud outbreak, and directed the General Officer Commanding, Derajat Brigade, to proceed at once with the Movable Column to the relief of Sarwakai. I also ordered the despatch to Tank of the 44th Infantry Brigade, which had already been warned to stand ready to support the Movable Column, and of the 23rd Indian Mountain Battery.

4. In accordance with these orders the Derajat Movable Column advanced up the Gomal and relieved Sarwakai on 9th March. Some 3,000 to 4,000 Mahsuds had remained in the vicinity of the post with the apparent intention of opposing the column, but on its approach the lashkar withdrew. On 10th March, General Baldwin, whose column had been augmented by a detachment of 250 South Waziristan Militia, under Major G. E. Davis, the Commandant of the Corps, advanced to Barwand, a village in the Shahur Valley, where punitive measures were carried out in face of some opposition. The column retired to Sarwakai the same day and on the 11th proceeded to Khajuri Kach, where it remained for the rest of the month. With the exception of an attack on a piquet on the Gwaleri Pass, no further hostile acts were committed by the Mahsuds during March.

Meanwhile, the 44th Infantry Brigade with the 23rd Indian Mountain Battery had been concentrated at Tank by 11th March, and on 12th it marched to Jatta. at which place it was well situated to support the Moveable Column up the Gomal Valley or the garrison of Jandola.

5. Representatives of certain sections of the tribe were interviewed towards the end of March by Mr J. A. O. Fitzpatrick, C.I.E., the Political Agent, Wana, and, as it appeared that there was little likelihood of further trouble, orders were issued for the return of the Derajat Movable Column to Tank, which place was reached on 3rd April, and for the dispersal to their stations of the units of the 44th Infantry Brigade.

The hope that the Mahsuds would remain quiet was, however, quickly dis elled, as on 9th April the piqueting troops of a convoy proceeding over the Gwaleri Pass towards Nili Kach were attacked. Consequently the Derajat Moveable Column was directed to proceed again up the Gomal, and one section of the 23rd Indian Mountain Battery and the 1-4th Gurkha Rifles of the 44th Infantry Brigade were ordered to return to Tank. The Moveable Column arrived at Khajuri Kach on 17th April; and on 21st, whilst proceeding from Tanai to Wana, it was opposed by a considerable body of tribesmen in the defile near Karabkot. The passage of the defile was successfully forced, the casualties suffered by the column not being heavy, and on 24th April the column returned from Wana to Tanai, where it was suitably placed to operate in the direction of either Sarwakai or Wana.

6. On 1st May, another attack was made by a strong party of the enemy on a convoy proceeding from Nili Kach to Khajuri Kach. The convoy escort was taken at a disadvantage and the losses suffered by it were severe. On hearing of this attack, Brigadier-General Baldwin at once despatched 500 rifles from Tanai to Sarwakai with a view to intercepting the Mahsuds returning to their country, and, on the following day, a party of Militia from Sarwakai, supported by some of the above detachment, succeeded in coming up with the raiders and inflicting casualties upon them. On 2nd May, Brigadier-General Baldwin's column moved to Khajuri Kach and arrived the following day at Nili Kach.

It will be observed that the Mahsuds, in all their attacks on convoys proceeding along the Golam route, selected for the purpose the stage between Nili Kach and Khajuri Kach. The country in this stage, in which the Gwaleri Pass has to be crossed, is extremely difficult and peculiarly favourable to the tribesmen's tactics. No movement of troops can be hidden from Mahsuds on the hill tops; the track in many places follows deep nal's with precipitous sides; and the very broken and intricate nature of the country affords every advantage to the enemy for concealment, and for subsequent withdrawal.

7. The attack made by the enemy on 1st May, combined with the increased raiding by large gangs into the Derajat district, showed that the Mahsuds were becoming emboldened and it became necessary to increase the strength of the garrison of the Derajat. Three additional infantry battalions which, with the 1-4th Gurkha Rifles, formed the 43rd Infantry Brigade, under the command of Brigadier-General W. M. Southey; C.M.G., and two sections of mountain artillery were therefore ordered to Tank; the 107th Pioneers and No. 7 Field Company, Sappers and Miners, having been previously sent into the area to improve communications. On 6th May, the force in the Derajat was constituted the Derajat Field Force, and Major-General W. G. L. Beynon, C.B., C.I.E., D.S.O., was appointed to command with Sir John Donald, K.C.I.E., C.S.I., as his Chief Political Officer. On the 12th May, the Bannu Brigade under the command of Brigadier-General the Hon'ble C. G. Bruce, M.V.O., was placed under General Beynon's orders and the troops in the Derajat and Bannu Brigades were designated the Waziristan Field Force.

8. Whilst these reinforcements were moving into the Derajat, an action was fought on 10th May in the vicinity of Sarwakai. The Officer commanding the post, Major L. P. Collins, D.S.O., 1-4th Gurkha Rifles, hearing that a body of the enemy was retiring from the vicinity of Tormandu, moved out during the night of 9th-10th with a force of 450 rifles, comprising 1-4th Gurkha Rifles, 11th Rajputs, and South Waziristan Militia, with the object of intercepting the enemy's retreat. At dawn, the Mahsuds were successfully surprised, but large enemy reinforcements arriving, very fierce hand to hand fighting took place. As there was danger of being surrounded the Officer Commanding the detachment rightly decided to withdraw to Sarwakai. Although our losses in this engagement were severe, those inflicted on the enemy were also heavy and included the leader of the lashkar. Great praise is, I consider, due to the troops, who were largely composed of young soldiers, for the steadiness and gallantry with which they fought.

9. Hitherto only certain sections of the Mahsuds had been hostile and it had been hoped that the operations could be confined to those necessary for the security of the Gomal, and the protection of the Derajat border. It was most desirable to avoid, if possible, undertaking offensive operations during the hot weather when the climatic conditions in the Derajat are of the worst description. Also, as soon as the rains commence, the railway and road communications are very liable to interruption. The confidence of the hostile sections of the Mahsuds in their immunity from punishment had, however, resulted in bringing in other sections of the tribe against us, and, on the 19th May, Government sanctioned the taking of punitive measures, with the Khaisara Valley as the objective.

10. To carry out these offensive operations the force in the Derajat was reinforced by the 45th Infantry Brigade, under the command of Brigadier-General C. C. Luard, two battalions of the 44th Infantry Brigade, one section No. 1 British Mountain Battery, and No. 11 Field Company, Sappers and Miners.

In order to protect the Bannu district, four additional battalions, two of which belonged to the 44th Brigade, commanded by Brigadier-General G. D. Crocker, were added to the garrison.

11. Meanwhile, on 16th May, a Mahsud lashkar, believed to have been of a strength of some 2,000 men, attacked, on the Gwaleri Pass, the second echelon of a convoy proceeding up the Gomal to ration Sarwakai and Wana. The convoy was unable to get through, and returned to Nili Kach. Major-General Beynon, therefore, directed Brigadier-General Southey to march from Murtaza to Nili Kach with two battalions. This General Southey was unable to do until 20th owing to the Gomal river being in flood. The convoy then proceeded to Wana without further incident.

12. The accumulation of supplies preparatory to carrying out of punitive measures in the Khaisara Valley from Wana had now to be undertaken. The Gomal river, however, again came down in flood and the disadvantage of utilizing, as a line of communication, a route traversing the long and dangerous defile of the Gomal and liable to be interrupted for long periods by floods in the river, made it desirable to consider the possibility of utilizing an alternative line into the Khaisara. Major-General Beynon, therefore, submitted proposals, which had my full approval, for operations viâ Jandola and the Shahur Valley. On 26th May, these proposals were sanctioned by Government. In order to facilitate the passage of Major-General Beynon's main force through the Shahar tangi between Jandola and Haidari Kach, at which defile it was probable that the Mahsuds would endeavour seriously to oppose the advance of the force, it was decided that a detachment of two battalions and a section of mountain guns should be located at Sarwakai, from which place it could operate against the rear of any enemy holding the defile.

Steps were taken at once for the formation of an advanced base and for the accumulation of supplies at Jandola; also for the completion of the garrison of Sarwakai up to the strength decided upon.

13. Up to the end of May no hostile acts had been committed by the Mahsuds in the Tochi. On 31st, however, Tut Narai, a small post, garrisoned by the North Waziristan Militia was captured by a ruse, the lashkar taking part being estimated to be some 600 strong. Owing to the fire brought to bear on the attackers by men holding the two outlying towers and to the rapidity with which the local village pursuit parties were turned out by Major F H. Humphrys, the Political Agent, Tochi, the enemy were unable to damage the post. Brigadier-General Bruce, who was at Miramshah with the Moveable Column, ordered Tut Narai to be at once regarrisoned and a small column under the command of Major G. B. Scott, D.S.O., Commandant, North Waziristan Militia, was despatched the same evening and effected its object without incident.

14. By the 9th June, Major-General Beynon's striking force and the line of communication troops destined for Jandola and the posts beyond were concentrated at Jandola. During this concentration the only aggressive action taken by the enemy was a determined attack on 7th June by a party of 300 men against a piqueting detachment, consisting of two British officers and 89 men of 2-1st Gurkha Rifles, near the Zam Post. The enemy was driven off with heavy loss; our losses, as a result of the close fighting in scrub jungle, also being severe.

15. As Major-General Beynon was now about to proceed in command of this striking force up the Shahur Valley, it became apparent that he would not be in a position effectively to control any operations which might become necessary on the Tochi side. Consequently His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief decided that the troops in the Bannu and Derajat areas should again become separate forces, being designated the North and South Waziristan Field Forces, respectively, under the general control of the General Officer Commanding, Northern Army. Orders giving effect to this decision were issued on 14th June.

16. On 13th June sufficient supplies had been collected at Jandola to admit of Major-General Beynon advancing up the Shahur Valley. Prior to this, he had, on 12th, moved out to attack a considerable body of the enemy near the junction of the Shahur and Takhi Zam; the enemy did not, however, make a stand. On 13th, a reconnaissance was carried out to the eastern end of the Shahur tangi and a double camel track was cleared up the river bed. The following day the 45th Brigade proceeded to the Chagmalai at the eastern entrance of the defile and on the 15th seized the heights commanding it, under cover of which the 43rd Brigade advanced to Haidari Kach, whilst the force at Sarwakai demonstrated in the direction of Turan China. The passage of the Shahur tangi was unopposed and the Sarwakai column was successful in killing and capturing a few of the enemy in Kamardun village.

17. On 16th June, the 45th Brigade joined the main body of the force at Haidari Kach. The three following days were occupied in carrying out punitive measures in the vicinity, in improving the road through the defile and in reconnoitring the route to Burwand. Reports were now received that the Mahsuds intended strongly to oppose the further advance of Major-General Beynon's force and, on 19th June, when the force moved to Burwand, considerable opposition was met with. During the whole of the ensuing night several hundred of the enemy made determined efforts to capture a piquet of the 54th Sikhs (F. F) under the command of an Indian officer. This piquet, although sustaining heavy losses, was successful in maintaining its position. Major-General Beynon describes the defence as a most gallant one, which not only worthily upheld the fine traditions of the battalion and of the Punjab Frontier Force, but, as was admitted by the Mahsuds at the final jirga, contributed in no small measure to inspiring the tribe with respect for His Majesty's troops and a general desire for peace.

On 20th, for reasons of water-supply, the force moved forward a short distance to Ispana Raghza. The enemy made a determined attempt to check the advance, but the 43rd Brigade overcame the opposition, the work of the 1-25th London Regiment and the 1-4th Gurkha Rifles being specially noticeable.

On 21st, Major-General Beynon ordered the 45th Brigade to destroy the village of Nanu at the head of the Splitoi Valley, whilst the 43rd Brigade dealt with the settlements in the vicinity of Ispana Raghza. The enemy had evidently determined to make a stand on this occasion, and aeroplanes reported considerable bodies of the enemy on the ridge, dividing the Splitoi and Shahur valleys through which ran the pass to Nanu. The 45th Brigade attacked the pass with great spirit and dash, the 2-6th Sussex Regiment moving against the pass itself, whilst the 2-1st (King George's Own) Gurkha Rifles, and the Mahindradal Regiment, Nepalese contingent, seized the heights to the south and north of the pass, respectively. The enemy was driven off, Nanu village destroyed and the retirement of the troops to camp effected with only slight molestation. Major-General Beynon brings to notice the most creditable manner in which the Mahindradal Regiment carried the heights forming its objective and also the valuable work performed by the aeroplanes of the 31st Squadron, Royal Flying Corps, both in reconnaissance and in bombing the enemy. The defeat of the enemy on this occasion appears to have brought home to the enemy the futility of attempts to oppose the British Raj and messages asking for terms of peace begun from now to be sent in.

On 22nd June, the 43rd Brigade destroyed the large village of Shah Salim Mela in the Waspas Valley. The enemy had made careful preparations for opposing the advance; but, owing to the good dispositions made by Lieutenant-Colonel C. O. O. Tanner, Commanding the Brigade, the whole of the enemy's defence was turned and our casualities were slight.

18. Sufficient supplies having now been collected to enable the advance to be resumed, the striking force moved on 23rd to Narai Raghza. A very difficult defile had to be negotiated in the face of opposition which was cleared away by the 45th Brigade. During the following night the camp was heavily sniped and several piquets were attacked, one of the 1-4th Gurkha Rifles coming in for a particular share of the enemy's attention. The possession of bombs assisted considerably in the defence of these piquets.

On 24th Major General Beynon directed the 43rd Brigade to capture the Shrawani Pass to cover the passage through it of the 45th Brigade which was to carry out punitive measures in the Khaisara. The heights leading to and commanding this Pass were seized by the 1st Rifles, Nepalese Contingent, 54th Sikhs (F. F.) and the 1-4th Gurkha Rifles. The enemy was forestalled and the 45th Brigade was rapidly pushed through into Khaisara Valley. Under cover of the right flank guard, which was continuously engaged with the enemy, the destruction of all the villages within reach was proceeded with; the villages in the Nana Khel-Ghazi Kot area and the Machi Khel settlements being thoroughly dealt with, p actically all the towers of these villages being blown up. The retirement was then ordered. This movement was hotly followed up and a piquet of the 55th Cokes' Rifles (F. F.) was charged, but the enemy was driven back with loss. Major-General Beynon brings to notice the skilful manner in which the retirement of the 45th Brigade was carried out by Brigadier-General Luard. Major-General Beynon's intentions were to visit the Khaisara again on the following day, but messengers had arrived from Kaniguram asking for terms of peace, and the Chief Political Officer considered that the damage already effected was sufficient. Accordingly, on 25th, after destroying a village in the vicinity of the camp, the force returned with slight molestation to Ispana Raghza.

19. Whilst these operations were taking place several raids were carried out by aeroplanes of the 31st Squadron, Royal Flying Corps. Shingai villages in the Takhi Zam and others in the Badda Toi were bombed and in a particularly successful raid on 26th June nine hits were scored on Makin and six on Marobi, the home of Mulla Fazl Din, the titular chief of the tribe. These raids involved considerable risks. Engines were very liable to failure in the high temperature prevailing; distances from the base at Tank were long and hills up to 8,000 feet had to be crossed. These risks were, however, cheerfully taken by the flying officers and were well repaid by the results obtained, which undoubtedly contributed largely to the general desire for peace displayed by all sections of the tribe.

20. A letter had now been received from a jirga at Kaniguram asking for Government terms of peace. These were communicated verbally, and the messengers were informed that military operations would be suspended until 2nd July on which date representative maliks were ordered to come in.

On this date the maliks from Kaniguram arrived at Boji Khel, to which place General Beynon had transferred his force on 28th and 29th June owing to the water-supply at Ispana Raghza being unsatisfactory. The maliks accepted the terms imposed and hostages were given for their due fulfilment.

On 9th July, the first instalment of the rifles demanded from the tribe was handed in and fresh hostages were given pending final settlement. The attitude of the tribe being now very satisfactory, Major-General Beynon's force moved back, on the 11th and 12th July, to Manzal at the junction of the Shahur and Danawat Valleys, the post at Haidari Katch being at the same time transferred to Chagmalai.

Owing to the difficulty experienced by the maliks in collecting the rifles which had to be surrendered, the final jirga could not be held as early as had been hoped, but on the 10th August a full representative jirga of 3,000 Mahsuds ratified the settlement; peace was declared and British territory opened to them for trade. By 12th August all troops had been withdrawn to Jandola and the dispersal of the forces in the Derajat and Bannu areas commenced.

21. Whilst these operations had been taking place, the troops under Brigadier-General Bruce in the Bannu area were not called upon to undertake any offensive measures. The presence of strong forces at Bannu and Miramshah deterred the Mahsuds from raiding into the Bannu district and Tochi Valley and kept them in a state of uncertainty as to whether an advance from Miramshah might not be contemplated. On one occasion only was it necessary for Brigadier-General Bruce to act against a body of the enemy. This was on the 14th June when a body of Mahsuds approached the Saidgi defile in the Tochi Valley with the object of attacking the 1-1st Kent Regiment marching to Miramshah. The prompt concentration of troops, both from Miramshah and Bannu, to effect which mechanical transport was largely employed, successfully prevented the enemy from carrying out his design.

22. The physical and climatic conditions of this portion of the North-West Frontier are peculiarly trying and the period during which the recent offensive operations had to be undertaken was the hottest time of the year. Nothing, however, could have exceeded the cheerfulness and determination with which all difficulties and hardships were faced and overcome by the troops; not only by those actively engaged against the enemy, but by those on the lines of communication who, at first in the Gomal and later in the Shahur Valley, were continuously employed on piqueting duties in difficult and dangerous country.

23. At the time when it was decided to take the offensive the most unfavourable season of the year was just commencing. It was necessary that operations should be undertaken with the least possible delay and with a force of adequate size to ensure rapid success. This entailed the immediate expansion of the force already available, which threw a great strain on the communications leading into the area. The Kalabagh-Bannu-Tank narrow gauge line was inadequately equipped for the movement of large bodies of troops and was liable to interruption in the event of heavy rain. The unbridged passages of the Indus at Kalabagh and Darya Khan added greatly to the difficulties to be overcome. Consequently the work of those responsible for the communications was very arduous and the manner in which these duties were carried out is worthy of great praise. The administrative services and departments had also to work under high pressure and adverse conditions and their untiring efforts contributed greatly to the success of the operations. The Supply and Transport and Ordnance Services successfully met all the demands made upon them. The Medical Services, under the direction of Colonel P. Hehir, C. B., C. M. G., I.M.S., by the timely use of precautionary measures, were able to prevent the outbreak of evidemics and the arrangements made for the reception and evacuation of the large numbers of sick, which it was anticipated would have to be dealt with as a result of the great heat and unhealthy theatre in which the operations took place, were fully adequate to deal with the casualties which occurred. The provision and equipment of base hospitals and convalescent depôts at Rawalpindi and in the Murree Hills was quickly carried out under the orders of the General Officer Commanding, 2nd (Rawalpindi) Division, and amply sufficed to meet all requirements.

The Royal Engineers had to carry through much work, especially in connection with hospital accommodation, which was expeditiously and satisfactorily executed

Whilst Major General Beynon's striking force was in the Shahur Valley, sections of No. 3 Wireless Signal Squadron had to be relied on almost entirely for maintaining communications with it, and great credit is due to these sections for the way in which they coped with the heavy traffic.

24. I wish to express my thanks to the North-Western Railway authorities for the manner in which the transport of troops and supplies was carried out, especially over the narrow gauge railway in the Trans-Indus area. The congestion on this line was very great and it was only owing to the unceasing exertions of the personnel of this line that the heavy traffic was successfully dealt with, in spite of inadequate rolling-stock and frequent interruptions due to damage to the permanent-way caused by floods.

The operations threw a heavy amount of work on the Posts and Telegraph Department, for the successful coping with which I desire to express my gratitude and thanks. I also wish to thank the Red Cross Society and those who contributed to sending comforts to the troops for their gifts, which were most acceptable to the recipients.

25. I am greatly indebted to the advice and assistance I have received from the Hon'ble Lieutenant-Colonel Sir George Roos-Keppel, G.C.I.E., K.C.S.I., Chief Commissioner, North-West Frontier Province, and to the manner in which the Political Officers attached to the North and South Waziristan Field Forces carried out their duties. Also for the assistance rendered by the North and South Waziristan Militias and Frontier Constabulary.

REPORT ON THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE EDUCATION DEPARTMENT IN BENGAL FOR THE QUINQUENNIUM ENDING WITH THE YEAR 1916-17.

NOTIFICATION.

No. 734Edn.—The 8th May 1918.—The following extracts from the report by Mr. W. W. Hornell, C.I.E., on the Progress of Education in Bengal, 1912-13 to 1916-17 (fifth quinquennial review), are published for general information.

L. S. S. O'MALLEY,
Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

General.

5. Children of school-going age.—The number of children of school-going age calculated at 15 per cent. of the total population is 6,822,461, viz., 3,504,784 males and 3,317,677 females. The Government of India have recently discontinued the practice of this calculation and have adopted in its stead the percentage of pupils at school calculated upon the total population. On the basis of this calculation the figures would be—

(1)	Percentage of men and boys at school to the total male population	6·92
(2)	Percentage of women and girls at school to the total female population	1·36
(3)	Percentage of pupils at school to the total population	4·21

6. Public and private institutions.—The returns for 1916-17 show the Bengal Presidency as possessing 48,373 educational institutions, viz., 38,489 institutions for the education of men and boys, and 9,884 institutions for the education of women and girls. The figures for 1911-12 were 42,939, viz., 35,665 institutions for men and boys, and 7,274 institutions for women and girls. Thus the increase during the quinquennium was in institutions for men and boys 2,824 or 7·9 per cent., in institutions for women and girls 2,610 or 35·9 per cent. The increase is distributed through all classes and grades of institutions except special schools, but it is most marked in primary schools.

13. Expenditure.—The Education Budget for 1916-17 provided Rs. 88,30,000 for expenditure during that year. The budget provision for 1912-13 was Rs. 78,45,000. In other words, the amount of public money available for expenditure on education, exclusive of the amounts spent by district boards and municipalities out of their own funds, increased by Rs. 9,85,000 in four years.

34. Schools in district board areas and total district board expenditure on education.—On 31st March 1917 there were under the management of district boards 84 secondary, 2,824 primary and 7 special schools; these schools were attended by 6,932, 129,091 and 415 pupils, respectively. There were also within the jurisdiction of the boards 2,180 secondary, 36,723 primary and 869 special schools under private management. Of these, 878 secondary, 31,170 primary and 428 special schools received aid from district boards. On 31st March 1917 the aided schools had 1,094,397 pupils on their rolls and the unaided schools 360,018. During the year 1916-17 district boards spent Rs. 22,25,748 on education. They spent Rs. 4,13,033 on schools under their direct management and Rs. 14,63,903 in grants-in-aid to other schools within their jurisdiction. As regards the balance, Rs. 2,05,511 went on buildings, furniture and apparatus, Rs. 49,048 on inspection, Rs. 53,213 on scholarships and Rs. 41,040 on miscellaneous charges. The corresponding figures for 1911-12 were Rs. 13,66,214, Rs. 1,58,827, Rs. 8,35,933, Rs. 2,23,491, Rs. 48,845, Rs. 40,028 and Rs. 59,090, respectively. The increase is wholly due to the Imperial allotments which were placed during the quinquennium at the disposal of district boards for expenditure on primary education.

36. Schools in municipal areas and total municipal expenditure on education.—On 31st March 1917 the municipalities in Bengal had under their management 9 secondary and 8 primary schools, educating 2,826 and 380 pupils, respectively. There were also 378 secondary, 1,863 primary and 273 special schools under private management in their areas. Of these, 115 secondary, 1,527 primary and 117 special schools received aid from these bodies. The number of pupils attending these institutions was 94,108, while the unaided institutions educated 96,773 pupils. During 1916-17 the total expenditure of the municipalities on education amounted to Rs. 2,07,539. Their expenditure on schools under their own management was Rs. 7,195 and their grants-in-aid to schools within their areas Rs. 1,76,617. They also spent Rs. 23,537 on inspection, scholarships, buildings, etc. The corresponding figures for 1911-12 were Rs. 1,52,293, Rs. 4,553, Rs. 1,26,528 and Rs. 21,212, respectively.

Collegiate Education.

45. Number of colleges.—There has been no change in the number of Government or municipal colleges in the Bengal Presidency during the quinquennium, but the number of aided colleges increased from 10 to 13, while that of unaided colleges fell from 14 to 11. According to the returns the total number of arts colleges on 31st March 1912 was 33.

46. Classification of colleges according to management.—Of the 33 colleges shown in the returns for 1916-17, 8 were under Government management, 1 was under municipal management, 13 were aided and 11 unaided against 8, 1, 10 and 14, respectively, shown in the returns for 1911-12.

48. Students.—The total number of students on the rolls of all the colleges on 31st March of the last six years is given below :—

On the 31st March	1912	... ...	10,980 students.
Ditto	1913	... ...	12,896 ,,
Ditto	1914	... ...	14,746 ,,
Ditto	1915	... ...	15,921 ,,
Ditto	1916	... ...	17,226 ,,
Ditto	1917	... ...	18,478 ,,

The total number of students in arts colleges increased during the quinquennium under review by 7,498 or 68·3 per cent. It increased by 891 or 32·1 per cent. in Government colleges, by 82 or 105·1 per cent. in the single municipal college, by 2,651 or 79·8 per cent. in aided colleges and by 3,874 or 80·6 per cent. in unaided colleges. It is worth noting that during the year 1916-17 only 20 per cent. of the students were educated in Government colleges, while 80 per cent. were educated in private colleges. In 1911-12, 25 per cent. of the students were being educated in Government colleges.

49. Students by communities.—Of the total number of students on 31st March 1917, 16,255 were Hindus, 1,639 were Muhammadans, while 584 belonged to other communities. On 31st March 1912, the figures were 10,009, 810 and 161, respectively.

51. Expenditure.—The expenditure incurred on arts colleges during each of the last six years is shown below :—

	Rs.		Rs.
1911-12	13,56,372	1914-15	18,06,536
1912-13	15,59,239	1915-16	17,78,940
1913-14	16,13,511	1916-17	18,84,996

The total expenditure during the year 1916-17 was Rs. 18,84,996. Towards this expenditure Provincial revenues contributed Rs. 6,49,416 or 34·4 per cent., fees Rs. 10,71,061 or 56·8 per cent., and other sources Rs. 1,64,519 or 8·8 per cent. In 1911-12 the total expenditure was Rs. 13,56,372, of which Rs. 4,74,179 or 34·9 per cent. came from Provincial revenues, Rs. 6,46,481 or 47·7 per cent. from fees and Rs. 2,35,712 or 17·4 per cent. from other sources. From these figures it appears that during the quinquennium the expenditure from Provincial revenues increased by Rs. 1,75,237 or by 36·9 per cent., that from fees by Rs. 4,24,580 or by 65·6 per cent., while the expenditure from other sources decreased by Rs. 71,193 or by 30·2 per cent. The total expenditure on arts colleges increased by Rs. 5,28,624 or by 38·9 per cent.

52. Cost of Government colleges.—The total expenditure on Government colleges for 1916-17 was Rs. 8,43,645, an increase of Rs. 1,90,517 over the figures for 1911-12. In 1916-17 Government spent Rs. 5,14,595 on these colleges, while Rs. 3,12,871 came from fees and Rs. 16,179 from other sources. The corresponding figures for 1911-12 were Rs. 3,99,308, Rs. 2,39,908 and Rs. 13,912, respectively. Thus the expenditure from Provincial revenues increased during the last five years by Rs. 1,15,287 or 28·9 per cent., that from fees by Rs. 72,963 or 30·4 per cent., and that from other sources by Rs. 2,267 or 16·3 per cent.

53. Cost of aided colleges.—The total expenditure on aided colleges for 1916-17 was Rs. 5,44,242. an increase of Rs. 2,01,557 over the figures for 1911-12. In 1916-17 Government contributed Rs. 1,26,973 to these colleges, while Rs. 3,03,242 came from fees and Rs. 1,14,027 from other sources. The corresponding figures for 1911-12 were Rs. 71,850, Rs. 1,59,572 and Rs. 1,11,263, respectively. Thus the expenditure from Provincial revenues increased during the last five years by Rs. 55,123 or 76·7 per cent., that from fees by Rs. 1,43,670 or 90·0 per cent., and that from other sources by Rs. 2,764 or 2·4 per cent.

54. Cost of unaided colleges.—The total expenditure on unaided colleges in 1916-17 aggregated Rs. 4,79,369 against Rs. 3,53,839 in 1911-12. In other words, the expenditure on these colleges increased during the quinquennium by Rs. 1,25,530 or 35·4 per cent. Towards the total expenditure for 1916-17 fees contributed Rs. 4,45,246 and other sources Rs. 34,123. The corresponding figures for 1911-12 were Rs. 2,44,801 and Rs. 1,09,038. Thus the expenditure from fees increased during the quinquennium by Rs. 2,00 445 or 81·8 per cent., while that from other sources decreased by Rs. 74,915 or 68·7 per cent.

55. Buildings and equipment.—The cost on buildings and equipment of colleges according to management for the last year of the quinquennium under review is shown in the following table :—

1916 17.	Provincial revenues.	Municipal funds.	Private sources.	Total.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Government	3,312		1,864	5.176
Municipal	6,602	657	5,726	12,985
Aided	72,013		1,28,189	2,00,202
Unaided	7,996		75,866	83,862
Total	89,923	657	2,11,645	3,02,225

The figures shown above against Government colleges represent the amounts spent departmentally on equipment only. They do not include the sums spent directly by the Public Works Department.

Secondary Education.

154. Number of schools.—The total number of secondary schools returned as in existence on 31st March 1917 was 2,649 as against 2,224 at the close of the previous quinquennium. In other words secondary schools increased by 425 or by 19·1 per cent.

155. The doom of the secondary vernacular school.—The 2,649 institutions above quoted include 698 high schools, 1,602 middle English schools and 349 middle vernacular schools. On 31st March 1912 the number of schools of these three grades was 497, 1,213 and 514, respectively. The outstanding feature of these figures is that while the number of institutions in which English is taught has risen considerably, viz., high schools by 201 and middle English schools by 389, the number of schools working on a vernacular basis has decreased by 165. The secondary vernacular school is no longer in demand. A knowledge of English is now-a-days regarded as the first necessity of life. Even primary schools look forward to the inclusion of English in their curriculum. The doom of secondary vernacular school is in fact sealed. This is not a new development. In 1848 an official report stated that "in the observation of local officers and from experiments the fate of vernacular schools must be regarded as sealed." The increase in the number of high and middle English schools is not wholly due to the establishment of new institutions of these grades. It is due mainly to the raising of middle English schools to the high English school standard and of middle vernacular schools to the middle English school standard. In some cases middle vernacular schools have reverted to the primary standard or ceased to exist altogether.

* * * * * *

158. Number of English schools for boys per district in each division of the Presidency.—The average number of English schools varies considerably in the different parts of the Presidency. The Dacca division heads the list with an average of 154 English schools per district; next comes the Presidency division (excluding Calcutta) with an average of 88·8; then comes the Chittagong division with an average of 86·5; then the Burdwan division with an average of 77; and lastly the Rajshahi division with an average of 44·6. Calcutta has 75 English schools.

It is perhaps permissible on this point to quote the Bengal District Administration Committee.

> "Two examples will illustrate the enormous differences which distinguish Bengal from the rest of Upper India and which stultify so many generalizations. The Madaripur subdivision of the remote rural district of Faridpur contains 15 private high schools, each with an attendance of about 400 boys. It further holds 19 private middle English schools. The Munshiganj subdivision of the Dacca district is even more richly endowed with private high schools. But in the whole of the United Provinces there are only 14 high and 15 middle English schools away from district headquarters. Five of the former and four of the latter are maintained by Government or local funds. The figures of attendance for all but two of the entire number are far below the average Bengal figures."

159. Number of pupils.—On 31st March 1917 the number of pupils attending secondary schools of all grades, i.e., high English, middle English, and middle vernacular schools, was 399,682 as against 300,319 at the end of the year 1911-12. The following table distributes the numbers in the three classes of schools :—

YEAR.		High English schools	Middle English schools	Middle vernacular schools	Total
1911-12	...	142,003	125,440	32,876	300,319
1916-17	...	218,070	160,359	21,253	399,682

The total increase during the last five years amounts to 99,363. The figures for high schools show an increase of 76,067 or 53·5 per cent., and those for middle English schools an increase of 34,919 or 27·8 per cent. The figures for middle vernacular schools show a decrease of 11,623 or 35·3 per cent.

160. Average strength of a high school, a middle English school and a middle vernacular school.—The following table represents the average strength of the various classes of secondary schools at the close of the last two quinquennia :—

YEAR.			High school.	Middle English school.	Middle vernacular school.
1911-12	...	...	286	103	64
1916-17	...	...	312	100	61

* * * * * *

165. Total expenditure on secondary schools according to sources.—Of the total expenditure of Rs. 72,66,376 on secondary schools for boys in 1916-17, Rs. 9,46,890 was contributed from public funds and Rs. 63,19,486 from private funds. A comparison with the corresponding figures for 1911-12 reveals an increase in expenditure of Rs. 2,96,127 from public funds and of Rs. 26,62,761 from private funds. While in 1911-12 the proportion of expenditure from public funds to the total cost was 15·1 per cent., by 1916-17 it had declined to 13·0 per cent. Of the total cost of secondary schools for boys, 74·4 per cent. was met from fees, 3·3 per cent. from endowments and 9·3 per cent. from subscriptions and other sources.

* * * * * *

187. Teachers' salaries.—It is an open secret that the salaries which are entered against the teachers' names and for which they sign receipts are not always paid. The following is an extract from a book which is now before the public :—

There is a very common practice of not paying the actual salary stated. Every school of under 300 boys, if staffed up to the ordinary standard, is running at a loss, and unless there is clear proof that the loss is being met by some wealthy patron, it is certain that it is being met by under-paying the teachers. This takes place in the following way: the teachers even in a good school live from hand to mouth, and have no place to keep their money in, so they draw their salaries in driblets of two or three rupees at a time as they need it, leaving often large arrears unpaid. There is an acquittance roll which has to be kept up-to-date. Hence all sign up-to-date, whether they are paid up-to-date or not, even in the honest school. The honest school pays up the balance at intervals, e.g., before the Puja holidays. This procedure is encouraged by the fact that Government grants are not drawn regularly by the school. They save them up and draw several together. Also there is occasionally delay in passing the bills. Hence innocent falsification of the acquittance roll is very general. Dishonest falsification is extremely easy. The teachers do not complain because they would promptly be dismissed. Detection by the inspecting officer is almost impossible, for no public account is kept of these intermittent payments. Even if by a rare stroke of luck one gets hold of the private account, as the months are not divided up in any set of thirty days, one finds some of the teachers overpaid, some underpaid, and some hardly paid anything at all. One has to go back 12 months and take an average.

188. No class teaching but a system of individual coaching.—Is it reasonable to expect that teachers engaged to work on such salaries and under such conditions will prove stimulating in their class rooms? Moreover, the University regulations ordain that a teacher of either of the two highest classes of a high school shall teach 50 boys at one and the same time; that each of the next four classes is to contain 40 boys, and each of the two below that 30. How many English trained teachers would undertake to teach a class of 50 boys in a secondary school, and the ordinary Indian teacher is not the equivalent of an English trained teacher! He has never seen effective class teaching in his life ; nor have the boys any idea of it. The result is that class teaching is not attempted ; the boy has to learn something or he will stand no chance of passing the matriculation examination ; that something is not very much, but the long-suffering parent has long since realized that it is hopeless to expect that the school will impart it. So the boy goes to school and sits there for many hours every day, not that he may learn anything, but because sitting in a recognised school is a condition precedent to appearance at the matriculation examination. The boy's real work is done with a private tutor either before he goes to school in the morning or when he comes back from school in the evening. His tutor is by preference his class teacher, who is in rather a delicate position. If he taught the boys of his class what they are supposed to learn, his services as a private tutor would not be required, in which event he would starve.

189. Teachers and private coaches.—This custom of having the average school boy coached out of school-time in the ordinary subjects of the school curriculum calls for special consideration. That the system is widespread cannot seriously be doubted. "The teachers being ill-paid men," writes Dr. Chatterji, in the Rajshahi division report, "they are naturally anxious to do the work of private tuition." "There is hardly any teaching", says the Dacca division report, "but there is too much examining in the class ; in all schools, Government schools not excepted, pupils are required to learn their lessons at home, and when they come to schools they have only to answer the questions, which the masters put to them." But the most convincing testimony to the prevalence of the custom is to be found in the fact that the schools are staffed by teachers working on the starvation wages now paid. That many of these unfortunate men do suffer considerable hardships, I have no doubt ; but they somehow contrive to live, to educate their sons and to marry their daughters. If the great majority of the secondary school teachers did not earn money by private coaching, they could not subsist and the whole of the existing system of secondary schools would collapse.

202. Buildings.—With few exceptions high and middle schools are accommodated in buildings which are not only utterly unsuitable for school purposes, but also fail to satisfy the first requirements of health. The classrooms are frequently inadequately ventilated and almost invariably so constructed as to put the maximum of strain on the eyesight of the teacher and the pupils. School buildings are rarely kept clean, while sanitary arrangements are not infrequently inadequate and seldom kept properly. In addition to this nearly all school buildings are overcrowded. It is common to find class rooms in which the boys are so crowded on the benches that the ordinary process of writing involves a series of acrobatic feats. The general condition of school accommodation in Calcutta is literally appalling.

204. Are the demands of the Education Department unreasonable?—It is sometimes alleged by the critics of the Education Department that far too much stress is laid on buildings and equipment and far too little on teaching capacity. It is also asserted that the conditions in these matters on which the Department attempts to insist are far too luxurious for such poor and simple persons as are the great majority of the inhabitants of Bengal. I do not think that any one who reads through this review can say that I have not emphasized the paramount importance of teaching capacity or that I have failed to condemn the deplorable inadequacy of the remuneration which is now offered to teachers. I am, however, unable to admit that the question of accommodation and equipment is one to which either the public or the Government can afford to be indifferent. The really ineffective teacher will never be anything but ineffective, even if the class-room in which he is put to teach is perfectly constructed and faultlessly equipped ; but the effective teacher is certainly handicapped by defective class-room arrangements and inadequate requisites. As regards the luxury criticism, there is, as Mr. Gilchrist recently pointed out in the Bengal Economic Journal, a very close connexion between education and the standard of life. All I am pleading for is that the secondary schools of Bengal should be so accommodated and equipped as to be able to fulfil their function, namely, the fitting of the younger generation to play the parts that they should play in the general scheme of the Presidency's existence. At present the secondary schools of Bengal as a whole are not so accommodated and equipped.

Primary Education.

234. Schools.—The quinquennium under review ended with 32,588 primary schools for boys, of which 3,165 were of the upper primary and 29,423 of the lower primary grade. In 1911-12, the figures were 3,526 and 25,076, respectively, yielding a total of 28,602 schools. Thus primary schools for boys increased during the quinquennium by 3,986 or by 13·9 per cent.

* * * * * *

242. Number of towns and villages served by a school.—According to the census figures of 1911, the total number of towns and villages in Bengal was 119,851. The number served by a primary school in 1916-17 was 3·6 against 4·2 in 1911-12. The areas served by a primary school was 2·4 square miles in 1916-17 as compared with 2·7 square miles in 1911-12.

The subjoined table gives the divisional particulars :—

	Number of towns and villages served by a school.	Area served by a school.
		Sq. mile.
Presidency	2·1	2·8
Burdwan	2·7	1·5
Dacca	4·1	2·1
Rajshahi	6·5	3·2
Chittagong	2·8	2·9

243. Pupils in primary schools.—The number of pupils in primary schools for boys as it stood at the end of each of the last six years was as shown below :—

Year.	Pupils in upper primary schools.	Pupils in lower primary schools.	Total pupils.
1911-12	190,173	883,676	1,073,849
1912-13	178,630	866,770	1,045,400
1913-14	171,664	856,020	1,027,684
1914-15	164,130	882,564	1,046,694
1915-16	159,712	964,397	1,124,109
1916-17	159,747	1,000,039	1,159,786

From the above figures it will be seen that the number of pupils in primary schools for boys increased during the quinquennium under review by 85,937 or by 8·00 per cent. There was a loss of 30,426 pupils in upper primary schools and a gain of 116,363 pupils in lower primary schools, resulting in a net gain of 85,937 pupils. Of the total number of 1,159,786 pupils in primary schools for boys at the end of 1916-17, 64,484 were girls, of whom 4,742 were under instruction in upper primary schools and 59,742 in lower primary schools as against 5,022 and 50,897, respectively, at the end of 1911-12.

* * * * * *

247. Total expenditure on primary schools.—The total expenditure on primary schools for boys shows a steady increase all through the quinquennium. The figures are :—

	Rs.		Rs.
1911-12	26,85,154	1914-15	34,04,979
1912-13	27,97,957	1915-16	37,17,242
1913-14	32,30,570	1916-17	37,97,976

The increase during the quinquennium amounts to Rs. 11,12,822 or 41·4 per cent.

In the quinquennium under review the greatest increase from year to year was that between 1912-13 and 1913-14, which amounted to Rs. 4,32,613. The increased expenditure on primary education is almost entirely due to the grants made from Imperial revenues.

248. Expenditure from public funds.—Towards the total expenditure of Rs. 37,97,976 returned for the year 1916-17 public funds contributed Rs. 16,51,010 or 43·4 per cent. In 1911-12 public funds contributed Rs. 7,72,266 or 28·7 per cent. Thus during the quinquennium there has been an increase of 14·7 per cent. in the proportion paid from public funds.

249. Expenditure from Provincial revenues and district board funds.—The contribution from Provincial revenues, spent directly on primary schools, towards the total expenditure from public funds during 1916-17 was Rs. 1,89,739 or 11·5 per cent. The percentage which this contribution bore to the total contribution from public funds in 1911-12 was 17·1. In the last five years the percentage has decreased by 5·6 per cent. This contribution is, however, not the only Government contribution made to primary schools. Government also aid primary schools through the agency of district boards. In the last year of the quinquennium under review Government made over Rs. 8,64,600 out of the Imperial allotments to district boards for the maintenance of primary schools for boys. The expenditure met from this amount has been shown in the statistics as expenditure from district funds.

250. Expenditure from the funds of municipalities.—Including the grants paid from the Imperial allotments the amount spent on primary education of boys from municipal funds has risen during the quinquennium by Rs. 41,138, the contributions from these funds being Rs. 50,467 in 1911-12 and Rs. 91,605 in 1916-17. This increase is deplorably inadequate. At one time a municipal board was expected to provide for the education of half the male population of school-going age of the area under its control at ten annas a head. Subsequently the minimum expenditure on primary education was fixed at 3·2 per cent. of the ordinary income of the Board. Both these orders have been withdrawn.

251. Expenditure from private sources.—Towards the total expenditure of Rs. 37,97,976 incurred on primary schools for boys during 1916-17 private sources contributed Rs. 21,46,966 or 56·6 per cent. The proportion borne by private sources in 1911-12 was 71·3 per cent. Thus in the course of the quinquennium under review this proportion fell by 14·7 per cent.

252. Fees.—If we compare the amounts returned as fees with the total amounts returned as spent, the amount returned as realized from fees during 1916-17 was Rs. 18,58,954 representing 48·9 per cent. of the total expenditure, as against Rs. 16,51,857 or 61·5 per cent. in 1911-12. The proportion of the cost of primary schools borne by fees therefore declined by 12·6 per cent. during the last five years.

253. Expenditure from other sources.—A sum of Rs. 2,88,012 is returned as having been contributed from other sources during 1916-17. This represents 13·4 per cent. of the total contributed from private sources. In 1911-12 the percentage was 13·6.

254. Total cost of primary education.—The figures of expenditure shown in the preceding paragraphs do not cover the whole expenditure on primary education. To arrive at an estimate of the total cost of primary education it would be necessary to include not only the cost of the primary schools and the primary departments of secondary schools, which by a rough calculation amounts to about Rs. 24,22,000, but also certain other charges incidental to primary education.

The total cost of primary education during 1916-17 may be stated roughly as about Rs. 69,24,000. In this figure are reckoned the expenditure on primary schools, the primary departments of secondary schools, the cost of maktabs and other schools teaching the primary standards, cost of buildings, scholarships, the pay and allowances of the subordinate inspecting staff, including 80 per cent. of the pay and allowances of deputy inspectors, etc.

260. Qualifications of teachers in primary schools.—The total number of teachers employed in primary schools for boys at the end of 1916-17 was 40,169. Of these 6,480 or 16·1 per cent. are returned as "trained", whilst 5,064 or 12·6 per cent. are returned as having "no special qualifications". The remainder 28,625 or 71·3 per cent. are returned as possessing "other qualifications".

Compared with the figures at the end of the previous quinquennium trained teachers have increased in number from 3,553 or 10·5 per cent. to 6,480 or 16·2 per cent. Those possessing "no special qualifications" have fallen off in number from 5,787 or 16·9 per cent. to 5,064 or 12·6 per cent., while those possessing "other qualifications" increased from 24,756 or 72·6 per cent. to 28,625 or 71·2 per cent. The proportion of teachers who have only passed the lower primary examination is still 10·2 per cent.

From the figures returned it appears that in primary schools for Indian boys there was at the end of 1916-17, one teacher for every 29 pupils under instruction. The average number of teachers for every hundred primary schools for Indian boys was 123·2.

261. Pay of primary school teachers division by division.—The divisional figures give the following estimates of the range and average pay of primary school teachers :—

Division.	Public Management.		Private Management.

The Education of Indian Girls and Women.

434. Schools and pupils.—The figures for 1916-17, when compared with the figures for 1911-12, show an increase of public institutions of all classes for girls and women from 6,957 to 9,520, a rise of 36·8 per cent., and of girls and women under instruction from 222,576 to 285,398, a rise of 28·2 per cent. The figures for the last year of the quinquennium under review constitute a record.

The number of Muhammadan girls attending public schools increased during the quinquennium by 44,904, or by 51·9 per cent. In the course of the same period the number of Hindu girls attending public schools increased by 16.559, or by 12·7 per cent.

Arts Colleges.

442. There are still only three arts colleges for women and they are all located in Calcutta, viz.. the Bethune College, Calcutta, the Diocesan College, Calcutta, and the collegiate department of the Loreto House School for Girls, Calcutta. The first two are affiliated to the degree standard, the third to the intermediate standard.

Secondary Education.

469. High schools.—There are 14 high schools for girls—10 in West Bengal and 4 in East Bengal. Of the former all but one—the Wesleyan Mission High School—are located in Calcutta; the East Bengal high schools are distributed as follows:—One in Dacca, one in Mymensingh, one in Chittagong and one in Darjeeling.

470. Government, aided and unaided high schools.—Four of the girls' high schools are Government institutions; 9 are aided schools and 1 is unaided.

Out of 10 non-Government schools, three only, the Brahmo Girls' School, Calcutta, the Victoria Institute, Calcutta, and the Maharani High School, Darjeeling, are not missionary institutions.

471. Pupils in high schools.—These schools had 2,059 pupils on their rolls on 31st of March 1917, viz., 126 boys and 1,933 girls. On 31st March 1912 the corresponding figures were 1,824, 101 and 1,723, respectively. Four hundred and eighty-eight girls were in the high stage of instruction against 294 at the end of the previous quinquennium.

Primary Education.

482. General statistics.—Schools and pupils.—The returns for 1916-17 show 9,362 primary schools for girls. In 1911-12 the number of these schools was 6,572. At the end of the quinquennium under review there were 210.291 girls in primary schools for girls and 64,484 in those for boys. At the end of the last quinquennium the corresponding figures were 149,865 and 55,919, respectively. Thus the total number of girls under instruction was 274,775 at the end of the quinquennium under review against 205,784 at the end of the last quinquennium. The number of primary schools for girls increased during the quinquennium by 2,790 or by 42·4 per cent., and the number of girls under instruction in them by 60,426 or 40·3 per cent. This increase was shared both by West and East Bengal. In West Bengal, schools increased by 691 and their girl pupils by 15,991. In East Bengal the former by 2,099 and the latter by 44,435.

* * * * * *

493. The local education authorities and the primary education of girls.—It is a commonplace to say that further progress in the primary education of girls is a question of funds. It is more than this. Primary education of girls as well as of boys is a matter for which district boards and municipalities are responsible, but practically all the effective schools which have been started up to the present have been the result either of the direct action of the Education Department or of the efforts of some private body, such as a missionary society. What is the right course for the future? Should the Education Department seek to extend its initiative or does the future of the primary education of girls rest with the local education authorities? I think that we must recognize that the special nature of the problem demands and will continue to demand the special intervention of the central authority. By this I mean that Government should continue to finance directly special types of primary girls' schools such as the urban and model girls' schools described above. But these special types of schools can never do more than touch the fringe of the problem. If there is ever to be any general system of primary education for girls, that system must be in the hands of the local education authorities. There should, of course, be direction, guidance and encouragement from the centre, but I should regard as unsound any policy which advocated the removal of girls' schools from the control of the local authorities or even the extension of the system by which departmental grants are paid direct to the ordinary primary schools for girls. Possibly the local education authorities may have failed in the past to devote that attention to the education of girls, which the importance of the problem demands. It is idle to expect such a body as a district board or a municipality to be in advance of public opinion. Moreover, there always has been and still is the lack of funds. Having more than they can do to meet demands which exist, they cannot fairly be criticized for failing to create demands. The point is that district boards and municipalities are the local education authorities for primary education, and it is inconceivable that so long as they remain so, a general system of primary instruction for girls could ever grow up, as it were, in their despite. Local education authorities must be educated to recognize their responsibilities towards girls and to discharge their obligations. Possibly some readjustments may be necessary; it is, for example, desirable that the women inspecting staff should have more voice in the assignment of the boards' educational funds. But the line of advance towards a general system of primary education for girls must be through the boards and municipalities. The position is summed up by Miss Irons in the following sentence:—

> We want to aim at soundness and simplicity of aim and method and to convert the local bodies to this point of view.

The Education of Europeans and Anglo-Indians.

539. Distribution of schools and pupils according to management.—The following table shows the distribution of schools and pupils according to management.—

	Number of institutions.	Number of pupils.	Percentage of total number of pupils in secondary, primary and special schools.
Government institutions	5	302	3·13

It will be observed that Roman Catholic school authorities maintained during the quinquennium a preponderance both in the number of schools and the number of pupils.

556. Statistics of teachers in European schools.—The returns for 1916-17 show that there were 546 teachers on the staffs of the various primary and secondary schools in Bengal. This means something like an average of one teacher to every 17 pupils, and though an increase of 2 pupils per teacher is shown on the returns for 1911-12 the ratio of pupils to teachers is still very satisfactory, since the Code requires one teacher to every 30 pupils. The same satisfaction cannot be felt when the figures are examined from the point of view of training and other qualifications. General Table IX shows that there are 211 trained and 335 untrained teachers in primary and secondary schools; thus the number of trained teachers is 38·6 per cent. of the total number. Members of religious orders engaged in teaching are returned as trained teachers. Excluding ecclesiastics from the total number of trained teachers there were 62 trained lay-teachers in 1916-17 for the whole Presidency. This number is nearly double the corresponding number in 1912-13, but it is still woefully inadequate. The dearth of trained teachers is most marked in elementary schools. Of the total number of 546 teachers 302 hold certificates of some kind and the rest do not hold any certificates.

591. The definition of European as laid down in the present Code for European Schools in Bengal, viz., "Any person of European descent, pure or mixed, who retains European habits or modes of life", while offering a wide latitude to those who claim the title, presents endless difficulties to an officer whose onerous task it is to verify these claims. It has been frequently represented that the definition should be limited to evidence of European blood on the father's side. It cannot be disputed that the establishment of such a definition would simplify enormously the problem of the education of the authenticated Anglo-Indian community. Then again, the concession mentioned in paragraph 650 of the last Quinquennial Report, by which the attendance of non-European scholars who have adopted European habits of life [Article 7 (c)] is counted for grants, makes confusion worse confounded. Such scholars spring from the lowest Indian castes and are entirely unfitted by heredity and by environment for a European education. The absurdity of the effort may be realized by anyone who cares to make an attempt to teach in English children of this class. The Hon'ble Mr. Arden-Wood said recently :—"There is no worse kind of education than that which is above the capacity of the learners ; it affects adversely both the bright and the backward." The problem of the education of the domiciled community would be enormously simplified, if the European system could be confined to those for whom it was intended.

As it stands, the community which claims the title "European", and for its children the privileges of a European education, is composed of peoples of many nationalities, pure and mixed, such as Indian Christians from almost every part of India, but chiefly from Bengal, Madras and Burma, where missionary efforts have been most successful ; West Indians, Negroes, Philipinos, Goanese, Chinese, Nepalese, Singhalese and others, including Anglo-Indians and pure Europeans. All these are to be found living cheek by jowl in the slums of Calcutta. With this bewildering conglomeration of races it is clearly impossible to design one system of education which will meet the individual needs of each and at the same time preserve for the Anglo-Indian proper the characteristics and ideals of a European education. Conditions such as these entirely prevent the educative process being one of social and spiritual uplifting and at the same time an adequate preparation for definite avenues of employment. We may by a supreme act of faith believe these children to be Europeans and, content in that belief, persuade ourselves that they are assimilating the European education which we are providing, but employers refuse to be deceived and state frankly that these people are unemployable save for the meanest kind of work, where wages are utterly inadequate to support them in European habits of life. They begin married life at an early age with a burden of debts, charity is looked for as an ingrained hereditary habit, and so the cycle goes on.

There are two other corollary causes, besides the presence in the European schools of large numbers of quasi-Europeans, which would seem responsible for the negative results of the existing educative process in attempting to combat the steady deterioration of the lower strata of the Eurasian community. These are, in my opinion, (1) the fact that our largest boarding schools and orphanages are situated in the heart of the slums and (2) the indiscriminate distribution of the free boarding grant. Mr. Maclear insisted that the children should be taken right away from their homes, but I do not agree that this can be accomplished by the mere extension of existing orphanage institutions. Those who for many years have had active control of this class of institution have come to realize the futility of their self-sacrificing efforts under present surroundings. The Brother Provincial of the order of the Irish Christian Brothers in a recent letter to Government pleaded for funds to remove the Catholic Male Orphanage from Portuguese Church Street, Calcutta, to a site outside Asansol.

The Rev. F. B. Hadow has recently proposed a scheme to remove the three institutions, the Gouldsmith School, the Old Mission Girls' Home and the Boys' Home from the slums of Bow Bazar and Kapalitola into the country outside Behala.

There would seem to be only one solution to the problem of how to elevate and render self-respecting the lower strata of Anglo-Indian society and that, to remove entirely the children of this class from their present surroundings and never allow them to return until a healthy disgust of their previous existence has been fostered, and habits of clean living and thinking have become natural and spontaneous.

The Education of Muhammadans.

593. Illiteracy of the Moslem population.—The Moslem population of Bengal is 23,989,719 out of a total of 45,483,077, that is to say, 52·7 per cent. of the total population of Bengal is Moslem. Of the total Moslem population 22,988,168 are illiterate, while 62,301 only are literate in English. This review records a certain amount of progress, but the figures are not reassuring. It is impossible to lay too much stress on the urgency of raising the standard of literacy in the Moslem community of Bengal.

599. Moslems in various stages of instruction in general institutions.—The number of Moslems under instruction in all classes of institutions (public and private) for Indians is 864,195 or 45·2 per cent. of the total number of pupils of all creeds as against 717,189 or 42·4 per cent. in 1912. The figures for the various classes of colleges and schools are interesting. The number of students in arts colleges is 1,639 or 8·8 per cent. of the total number of students of all creeds as against 810 or 7·3 per cent. at the end of 1912. In professional colleges the number is 303 or 6·8 per cent. of the total number of students of all creeds as against [illegible]4 or 4·2 per cent. in March 1912. In high schools the number is 45,179 or 20·5 per cent. of the total number of pupils of all creeds as against 26,629 or 18·3 per cent. in March 1912. In middle English schools the number is 54,039 or 33·2 per cent. of the total number of pupils of all creeds as against 43,238, or 34·1 per cent., and in middle vernacular schools the number is 8,258 or 34·1 per cent. of the total number of pupils of all creeds as against 10,598 or 29·7 per cent. in March 1912. In primary schools the Moslems almost hold their own. The number is 680,273 or 49·5 per cent. of total number of pupils of all creeds as against 525,980 or 42·8 per cent. in 1912. An analysis of the figures, however, shows that Muhammadans represent 19·7 per cent. of the total number of pupils of all creeds in the high stage, 24·3 per cent. in the middle stage, 22·0 per cent. in the high and middle stages taken together, and 46·6 per cent. in the primary stage of school instruction.

DISTRICT REPORTS ON WEATHER AND CROPS.

For the week ending on the 9th May 1918.

Summary.—Moderate to heavy rain was general throughout the province. Heavy rain has temporarily retarded ploughing and manuring of fields for paddy and harvesting of summer rice in places. Sowing of jute and autumn paddy continues in the Western districts. Prospects of both these crops are so far good. The average price of common rice for the province has slightly fallen as compared with that of the previous week.

Final Forecast of the Wheat Crop of Bengal, 1917-18.

(Note.—On an average of the five years ending 1915-16, the area under wheat in Bengal has represented some 0·4 per cent. of the total area under wheat in India. The ratio of irrigated wheat acreage to total wheat acreage in (a) British India and (b) in the territory now reported on has, in the five years ending 1915-16, averaged (a) 39·1 per cent. and (b) 51·9 per cent., respectively.)

Character of the season.—The rainfall in September was about normal but the fall in October was excessive with the result that the sowings were generally delayed and the growth of the crop already sown was affected thereby. Subsequent dry weather proved beneficial to the crop temporarily but the prolonged drought that followed, had an injurious effect, and caused considerable damage in some important wheat-growing districts. On the whole, the season may be regarded as unsatisfactory.

Area sown.—The total area sown this year is estimated at 124,000 acres against 128,800 acres of last year. The decrease in area is reported chiefly from Murshidabad and was due to excessive rain at sowing time.

Outturn.—The estimated percentages of outturn in the important wheat-growing districts are as follows :—Nadia and Murshidabad 67 each, Pabna 70 and Malda 60.

According to the estimates of the District Officers the Provincial outturn works out to 69 per cent. of the normal against 81 per cent. of last year.

Taking the normal yield to be 10½ maunds per acre, the total yield for the Province is estimated to be 33,002 tons against 40,241 tons last year, or a decrease of about 18 per cent.

At the end of April, the average wholesale price of wheat at the principal mart of the Province was Rs. 5-6-0 per maund or about 3 and 5 per cents. higher than the prices ruling at the corresponding period last year and in the year preceding, respectively. The average wholesale price of common rice in the principal marts at the end of April on the other hand was Rs. 3-9 per maund or about 21 and 31 per cents. lower than the rates in the corresponding periods of last year and the year preceding, respectively.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

THIRD AND FINAL FORECAST OF THE SPRING OILSEED CROPS OF BENGAL, 1917-18.

(NOTE.—On an average of the five years ending 1915-16, the area under linseed in Bengal has represented some 5·6 per cent., and, that under rape and mustard 20·4 per cent. of the total areas under these crops in British India.)

Character of the season.—The rainfall in September was defective, but was sufficient for preparatory tillage. Heavy showers in October retarded sowings and caused some damage in places to the crops in the area already sown. Since then dry weather has prevailed. The absence of rain improved the prospects of the crops generally for a time, but latterly the weather being much too dry interfered with the growth of the crops and caused considerable damage in the districts of Nadia, Jessore, Birbhum, Hooghly, Howrah, Rajshahi, Bogra and Dacca. On the whole the season may be regarded as generally unfavourable for the crops.

Acreage.—The total area under oilseed crops (excepting sesamum for which separate forecasts are issued) is estimated at 1,333,500 acres this year against 1,421,300 acres last year, or a decrease of about 6 per cent. The decrease is attributed to excessive rain and floods in places at sowing time.

Outturn.—According to the estimates of the District Officers, the outturn of the different kinds of oilseed crops (excepting sesamum) for the Province as a whole works out to 82 per cent. against 85 per cent. of the normal last year.

Taking 6 maunds per acre as the normal rate of yield for linseed, rape and mustard and 4½ maunds per acre for other oilseeds, the total yield of all kinds of spring oilseeds (excepting sesamum) is estimated at 237,500 tons against 267,400 tons of last year.

The dates appended to various prohibitions are those of Orders of Council imposing or amending those prohibitions since the Royal Proclamation of 10th May 1916. Where no date appears it may be assumed that the prohibition stands as it did on the 10th May 1916.

List E (page—805).—Goods specially prohibited by Royal Proclamation of the 13th March 1917, as amended by Orders of Council of the 10th August 1917, and the 27th November 1917, to be exported to Switzerland. The goods in this list are consignable to the Société Suisse de Surveillance Economique. It must be understood, however, that all goods mentioned in the General List, pages 787-804, are prohibited to be exported to Switzerland whether mentioned in List E or not. Goods mentioned in the General List but not in List E are not consignable to the Société Suisse de Surveillance Economique.

List F (page—813).—Goods specially prohibited by Royal Proclamation of the 29th September 1917, to be exported to Norway, Sweden, Denmark and Holland.

* This list cancels all similar lists issued by the War Trade Department prior to 18th March 1918.

Manchester : 37, Peter Street ;
Edinburgh : 23, Forth Street ; or from Messrs. E. Ponsonby, Ltd., 115, Grafton Street, Dublin.

The attention of exporters is drawn to the fact that various articles marked (B) or (C) (such as, for instance, "Motor Vehicles and Motor Bicycles Accessories") may, in view of the percentage of copper contained in them, be subject to the Copper Prohibition (List A). (See "Copper.")

Application must therefore be made to the War Trade Department for licenses to export goods which fall within the aforementioned copper prohibition on account of the quantity of copper contained therein. Such applications should always indicate clearly the actual quantity of copper and-or copper alloys the goods contain.

THE Bethune College is affiliated to the B.A. pass standard in English, Philosophy, Sanskrit, History and Political Economy, and to the honours standard in English and Sanskrit. It is also affiliated to the I. A. standard in English, Sanskrit, Logic, Botany, History, Bengali and Mathematics. The monthly fee is Rs. 3, the admission fee also is Rs. 3. A bus fee of Rs. 2 is levied on the students using the college buses. It is an annual fee like the tuition fee and is divided for convenience into twelve monthly payments, and must be paid until the end of the session by all students using the buses during the academic year. The college authorities have to approve of the method by which students come to and go home from College. It is, therefore, incumbent on every day student not using the college bus to submit to the Principal a statement as to the arrangement she wishes to make, and obtain sanction for the scheme proposed. There is a hostel attached to the institution. The boarders are charged Rs. 11 per mensem for board and attendance and Rs. 3 for every hundred clothes for laundry expenses. The admission fee for the hostel is Rs 11. Accommodation in the hostel is very limited. All applications for admission to the College as well as to the hostel must be made in writing to the Principal. The new term commences after the long vacation on 12th July 1918.

Seats in the College being limited, applications should be made for registration as soon as the results of the University Examinations are published in the Gazette. Actual admissions will be made on the re-opening of the College when fees will be received.

RESOLUTION ON THE ANNUAL REPORT ON THE JAIL ADMINISTRATION IN BENGAL FOR THE YEAR 1917.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

POLITICAL DEPARTMENT.

Jails BRANCH.

DARJEELING, THE 29TH MAY 1918.

RESOLUTION—No. 192 P.J.—D.

READ—

The Report on the Administration of the Jail Department in the Presidency of Bengal for the year 1917.

ALSO—

The Reports for the years 1916 and 1915 and the Resolutions of Government recorded thereon.

The increase in the jail population which has continued for some years past is again noticeable. The admissions during the year were 84,716 as compared with 80,828 in 1916, while the average daily population in 1917 was 15 929 as compared with 15.546 in the previous year. The statistics are, however, affected by the serious outbreak of hât looting which took place in several districts during November and December 1917, with the result that on the 31st December 1917 there were nearly 4,000 under-trial prisoners in the Bengal jails, or more than double the ordinary number. The actual number of convicts admitted during 1917 did not greatly exceed those of the previous two years.

2. Nevertheless the capacity of the jails was severely strained, and overcrowding occurred at times in nearly all jails, although it was mitigated, wherever possible, by transfers between jails and by the accommodation of prisoners in verandahs, work-sheds and godowns. This state of things imposes a heavy burden on the Inspector-General and his officers, and must inevitably hamper jail administration by throwing additional difficulties in the way of maintaining discipline and sanitation. In these circumstances, it is satisfactory to find that the number of jail offences of all kinds was substantially less than in the preceding year, the ratio of total punishments to daily population being 166 against 180 in 1916.

3. Even more satisfactory is the indication of efficient jail administration afforded by the vital statistics. Judged by the number of admissions to hospital, the year was not a specially healthy one, but the number of deaths fell from 349 in 1916 to 253, and the ratio per mille from 22·4 to 15·8. This is by far the best record yet attained in Bengal, the lowest previous ratio being 20 in 1913. When Colonel Buchanan joined the Bengal Jail Department in 1892, the death-rate was 43 per mille, and he may well be congratulated on the improvement which has taken place, largely owing to his labours, during the last quarter of a century. Though dysentery is still the chief cause of mortality in the Bengal jails, there has been a marked decrease in the death-rate, pointing clearly to improvement in hospital management, since the issue in this disease depends largely on early recognition and proper treatment. The construction of new hospitals at Rangpur, Dinajpur and Jalpaiguri has resulted in a great improvement in the health of the prisoners at those jails which were formerly very unhealthy. The death-rates in all the Central Jails, except Midnapore, were well below the provincial average, and Midnapore's ratio of 26, though still regrettably high, is much below the previous year's record of 42 deaths per mille.

There seems to be no doubt that the improvement in the health of the jails is due, at least in some measure, to the increasing use of the wheat scale dietary. The use of wheat at one daily meal in lieu of rice has widely extended, and considerably more than half the prisoners have voluntarily adopted this diet. Statistics show that the incidence of bowel complaints is distinctly less among them than among those on the ordinary rice diet, to which most of the Bengali prisoners are accustomed in their own homes.

A special tuberculosis ward in charge of a trained sub-assistant surgeon has been opened in the garden of the Suri Jail for the accommodation of prisoners from the Western Bengal districts suffering from this disease, and a similar ward is being constructed at the Comilla Jail for the reception of cases from Eastern Bengal.

4. A substantial advance has been made in the development of the Juvenile Jail as an institution for the reformation of youthful criminals. A regular school has been started with a staff of three teachers and a drill instructor, while the appointment of a deputy jailor has relieved the jailor of most of his purely jail duties and has enabled him to devote more time to the educational and reformatory side of the institution. A tailoring industry has been introduced under a tailor master for the benefit of Muhammadan boys, and it is reported that they already show considerable aptitude in learning this work. Although no formal after-care association has yet been formed to provide work for junevile prisoners on release, offers of assistance in this direction have been received from some philanthropic gentlemen.

The manufacture of quinine tablets and treatments is the most important industry at this jail. During the year 1,394,922 treatment tubes, each containing 20 tablets of four grains of pure quinine, were sold, besides about 8½ lakhs of five-grain tablets. Minor industries were also profitable, in spite of the increased time given to general education and moral and physical training.

5. The outturn of jail manufactures again exceeded that of the previous year, though the net profits fell from Rs. 5 lakhs to 3 lakhs, owing mainly to the increase in the price of raw materials, which left a very small margin of profit on some of the articles supplied under contract to the Military and other Departments of Government. Chaukidari uniforms were manufactured at a loss, but the rates have been revised since the close of the year. The blanket factory at the Dacca Central Jail which was started in 1916 has greatly expanded and supplied 27,600 blankets to the Army in 1917 as compared with 16.600 in the previous year. The new castor-oil industry at the Rajshahi Central Jail nearly doubled its outturn, 142 maunds of medicinal oil and 616 maunds of lubricating oil having been produced during the year.

6. Colonel Buchanan gives an interesting account of the manner in which the Bengal jails have helped in war work. During the last two years, 606 prisoners have been sent to various labour corps in Mesopotamia, including porters, dhobis, carpenters, artizans and sweepers. The jails have supplied the army with large quantities of gunny bags, gunny cloth, coir fibre, castor-oil and mustard oil, besides 44,000 blankets and over 356,000 bandages.

7. The attention of Government was called during the year to the variations in the proportion of convicts classified as habitual offenders in different jails throughout the Presidency. The matter is not merely one of statistics, but affects various aspects of jail administration, the main object being to prevent the demoralization of reclaimable offenders by association in jail with confirmed criminals. The responsibility for classifying convicts rests with the Courts, and the Governor in Council attaches great importance to the proper performance of their duties in this respect. The attention of Magistrates has been called to the instructions issued on the subject by the Government of India, and it is hoped that the classification will in future be carried out with greater care and discrimination.

8. The conduct of the warder staff was on the whole satisfactory. There was a slight increase in departmental punishments, but the number of judicial punishments, representing serious infractions of duty, fell from 14 to 8. The Inspector-General reports, however, that the difficulties of recruitment have not been overcome by the small increase of pay which was sanctioned in 1916. and which has been discounted by the general rise in prices. Resignations also show a tendency to increase. The whole question will receive further consideration when normal conditions are restored.

9. The Governor in Council congratulates the Inspector-General and the officers of the Jail Department on a successful year's work. The crowded state of most of the jails during the greater part of the year added to their labours and responsibilities, but in spite of this discipline was well maintained and the health of the prisoners has never been so satisfactory. To Colonel Buchanan the special thanks of Government are again due for his successful and efficient management of the Department and for the excellent results achieved during the sixteenth year of his tenure of the post of Inspector-General of Prisons.

ORDERED that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Inspector-General of Prisons, Bengal. for information and guidance.

Ordered also that a copy of this Resolution and a copy of the report be submitted to the Government of India in the Home Department.

Ordered also that the Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

By order of the Governor in Council.

Chief Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

ROYAL BOTANIC GARDEN AND THE GARDENS IN CALCUTTA, AND OF THE LLOYD BOTANIC GARDEN, DARJEELING, FOR 1917-18.

ROYAL BOTANIC GARDEN.

1. General.—The garden is still suffering badly in its appearance from both the direct and indirect effects of the cyclone of September 1916, which, as far as damage to the garden is concerned, was by far the worst for the last twenty years. Over four hundred trees were uprooted and a large number, although not completely uprooted at the time, were so badly wrenched that they have since died. Of the remainder few escaped quite unscathed, most having sustained more or less serious damage in the twisting off of branches. The general direct result is that the garden has and will continue to have for some considerable time to come, a somewhat ragged and unkempt appearance. Indirectly the necessity for cutting up and removing fallen trees and cutting out dead ones caused a diversion of the labour force from ordinary routine work and cultivation of plants, so that the latter were to a considerable extent unavoidably neglected. The reduction of the garden staff proper to half its normal number by the absence throughout the year on Military service of the European Probationer and one of the Overseers did not make conditions any easier. For a garden which is one of the largest and most important in the Empire a staff of one European Curator and one Indian Overseer is hopelessly inadequate, but it was all that was available throughout the year. Under such difficult conditions Mr. G. T. Lane, the Curator, and Mr. N. Mitra, the Overseer, deserve credit for the work accomplished.

Considerable sections of the river bank were revetted, but much still remains to be done. This is civil engineering rather than horticultural work and has for several years caused a serious diversion of time and labour from proper gardening work. Many of the garden roads have deteriorated, partly to all appearance as a result of the increased use of motor cars in the garden. About two million bricks have been made for repairing roads and for continuing the revetment of the river bank.

The Curator as usual gave instruction in arboriculture to subordinate officers from the Public Works Departments of Bengal and Bihar and Orissa, and advised the Corporation of Calcutta.

2. Plant and Seed Exchange and Economic Work.—About 45,500 plants and 23,500 cuttings, a total of 69,000, were distributed to the Public Works, District Boards, Municipalities, Charitable Institutions. Railways, Government officers, and private individuals in India and to a few institutions abroad. Over 2,000 plants were received, exclusive of 160lbs. of Polyalthia longifolia seed sent to the Arboricultural Department at Delhi. Over 3,300 packets of seed were distributed within and without India. Over 270 packets were received, exclusive of two barrels of Mahogany seed from the Royal Botanic Garden, Kew.

Owing to my absence on special duty for the greater part of the year, the planting up of the Economic Garden was held in abeyance and work restricted to keeping it in cultivation. A line of young Aesculus punduana trees was planted along the southern boundary of the Economic Garden Planting of the Economic Garden will be started during the next rainy season.

3. Herbarium and Library.—Nearly 10,000 sheets have been incorporated in the Herbarium, and over 10,000 taken out for distribution to other herbaria, when conditions permit of exchanges being resumed. About 2,500 sheets were received from officers of the Forest Department, Botanical Survey, Agricultural Department and others, notable amongst them being a collection of over 900 sheets collected by the Rev. Father Blatter, S. J. on the High Wavy Mountain in Madura District, South India.

Over 300 additions were made to the library during the year.

4. Publications.—Part II of Vol. XII of the Annals of the Garden was in press throughout the year. It was finally approved for publication towards the end of the year.

5. Financial.—The revenue amounted to Rs. 600-12-4 as against an estimate of Rs. 500. On the total allotment of Rs. 1,05,960, there was saving of Rs. 20,358-12-1, the greater part of which was on salaries and establishment.

* * * * * * *

CALCUTTA GARDENS.

These gardens were kept in reasonably good order during the year, the work being of a routine horticultural character. * *

* * * * * * * *

* * * There was a small saving of Rs. 1,599-13-7 entirely on establishment on the total allotment of Rs. 42,537.

LLOYD BOTANIC GARDEN, DARJEELING.

There was an excess of rain during the year, over 143 inches having fallen. An exceptionally severe hailstorm on the 16th March caused considerable damage to plants of all kinds. Work was conducted under difficulties, natural, under present conditions. There was a shortage of labour and what was obtainable was not very satisfactory. Nevertheless, the garden, when inspected just after the close of the year, was in very good order. Over 80 new species were planted out. Over 6,600 plants, over 4,800 dozens of seedlings, over 500 bulbs and tubers and over 5,800 packets of seeds were distributed. As the garden collectors work from sub-tropical to sub-artic elevations, the collections are suitable for a very varied range of climatic conditions. Countries to which distribution of seeds, etc., was made during the year included such widely-separated parts of the earth, as Tibet, Egypt, America, New Zealand. Seeds and tubers of Himalayan species sent out from this garden are much appreciated all over the world, and their distribution is one of the most important functions of the garden, which Mr. G. H. Cave, the Curator, admirably carrys out. * *

REVENUE OF THE TRUST FUND.

10 (1) The Administrator of the Trust Fund shall exercise a constant scrutiny over the revenues of the Fund, and shall see that all moneys realized on account of the Trust Fund are credited at once in the cash-book, whether the realizations are remitted to the bank or not.

(2) All receipts shall be paid in at once for credit to the account for the Trust Fund at the bank, and shall not be used for the current expenditure of the Trust Fund

11. (1) The bank column on the receipt side of the cash-book shall be utilized to exhibit all sums received on account of the Trust Fund, whether immediately paid into the bank or not.

Explanation.—When a scholarship is paid to a student the mere receipt of the Principal of the institution to which the student belongs will not be a sufficient voucher for the disbursement of the money. The Principal shall present a regular bill for the scholarship to the Administrator, who will first check it and then, if it is found to be in order, shall endorse upon it a payment order thus—

"Pay rupees (words) only, and debit the account to the Doveton Trust Fund."

The endorsement shall be signed by the Administrator and a cheque or cash issued in payment.

The Principal will then obtain a receipt from the recipient of the scholarship, countersign it, and forward it to the Administrator, who will file it in his guard-book as the voucher in support of the debit in the cash-book.

(2) The money-order commission for remitting money in payment of scholarships or grants-in-aid shall be payable from the Fund.

Vouchers.

14. Vouchers shall be taken (except for very petty charges for which a written detailed statement shall be kept) in support of every entry on the payment side of the cash book. They shall be filed in a guard-book and numbered consecutively for the year in order of payment.

Annual Account.

15. As soon as possible after the 31st March in each year the Administrator shall render an annual account to the Local Government. The account shall be in Form No. II annexed, and shall be supplemented by two schedules, one of receipts and one of payments.

16. (1) In the schedules, the receipts and expenditure shall be classified under the following heads :—

Receipts	Expenditure
	Education.
Voluntary subscriptions.	Scholarships for elementary education.
Interest on securities.	Scholarships for advanced education.
Miscellaneous.	Scholarships for technical education.
	Grants-in-aid to institutions.
	Establishment.
	Miscellaneous.

(2) Any other heads may be prescribed to suit the circumstances of the Trust Fund.

17. The opening balance shall be carefully checked by the Administrator with the closing balance of the previous annual account, and the closing balance shall be verified as follows :—

(1) the securities, by a reference to the Accountant-General's published list (as set out in article 171 of the Civil Account Code);

(2) the amount of the balance in the bank column, by a certificate that the amount agrees with the balance shown in the bank pass-book of the Trust Fund, less amount of uncashed cheques, if any;

(3) the cash, by a certificate of the Administrator that it was really in his possession on the 31st March.

18. No vouchers for expenditure are required to be submitted with the account, but the Administrator shall certify—

(1) that he has duly and carefully kept an account of the Trust Fund in the prescribed manner;

(2) that he has carefully superintended both the receipts and expenditure of the Trust Fund, and believes that the latter is expedient and proper with reference to the objects of the Trust Fund; and

(3) that he has, as far as possible, obtained receipts for his expenditure.

19. (1) The Administrator shall submit to the Local Government annually in the month of February a budget estimate showing the estimated receipts and expenditure for the ensuing financial year.

(2) The Local Government may either sanction this budget or make such modifications in it as may seem to them to be proper.

(3) The Administrator may incur expenditure in accordance with the budget as approved by the Local Government without further reference to Government, except in so far as such reference is otherwise required in the foregoing rules.

DARJEELING, THE 10TH JUNE 1918.

RESOLUTION—No. 40 T.—Medl.

READ—

Resolution by the Government of Bengal No. 312-T.-Medl., dated the 17th May 1910.

Letter to the Government of India in the Home Department No. 1889-Medl., dated the 5th December 1917.

Letter from the Government of India in the Home Department No. 148, dated the 11th May 1918.

The pay and prospects of Civil Sub-Assistant Surgeons in Bengal were last revised in the year 1910, upon representations of grievances received from members of that Service, and the new scales of pay then sanctioned, commencing from Rs. 30 in the first five years of a Sub-Assistant Surgeon's service, and rising to Rs. 100 in the case of an officer of the first class senior grade, were notified in this Government Resolution of the 17th May 1910, cited in the preamble. Subsequently, however, Sub-Assistant Surgeons in military service, as well as in the civil medical service of neighbouring provinces, have been remunerated on a scale higher than that offered to Sub-Assistant Surgeons in this Presidency, with the result that discontent with their prospects has been engendered amongst corresponding officers in Bengal, while difficulties have been experienced in securing recruits. The question has therefore been again taken into consideration, and the sanction of the Government of India has been obtained to a further increase in the rates of pay, which will come into force with effect from the 1st June 1918.

2. The existing rates of pay in the different grades are compared below with those to the introduction of which sanction is now given :—

Grades.	Existing rates of pay.	Revised rate of pay now sanctioned.
	Rs.	Rs.
Senior grade (1st class)	100	120
Senior „ (2nd class)	80	100
Grade I (over 15 years' service)	65	80
„ II (from 11 to 15 years' service) ...	55	70
„ III (from 6 to 10 years' service) ...	45	60
„ IV (from 1 to 5 years' service) ...	30	50

3. The changes now made in the rates of pay will not in any way alter the conditions of promotion from the lower to the higher grades, which will continue to be regulated under the existing orders on the subject, i.e., the promotion from grade IV to grade III and from grade III to grade II will continue to be regulated by the results of the departmental examinations held under the rules prescribed for the purpose. There is no examination for promotion from grade II to grade I and from grade I to the senior grade, but each Sub-Assistant Surgeon in grade II is required to pass a period of five years in that grade before promotion to grade I, while promotion from grade I to the senior and within the latter grade is given by selection. The total number in the senior grade will also continue to be restricted to 12 per cent. of the provincial establishment, viz., 10 per cent. in the 2nd, and 2 per cent. in the 1st class of that grade.

4. Sub-Assistant Surgeons without English qualifications, who are still in the service will remain unaffected by these orders, as decided in paragraph 4 of this Government Resolution of the 17th May 1910.

5. The revision of the salaries of Sub-Assistant Surgeons now sanctioned will necessitate an enhancement of the amounts payable by local bodies for the services of the officers of this class who are lent to them. Such contributions are at present made at the rate of Rs. 52 a month, but in cases in which the services of Sub-Assistant Surgeons were lent before the 1st August 1913, contributions are recovered at the rate of Rs. 57 a month. With effect from the 1st June 1918, the amounts payable by these local bodies will be raised to Rs. 69-8 and Rs. 76 a month, respectively.
